Keeping traditions alive (继续存在) is never an easy thing. Chen Zunkai is the founder (创办者) of Baoyuan Dumpling House. She has spent over 17 years 1 one of the most traditional Chinese foods: dumplings.

Her dumplings are not the white ones simply filled with meat, 2 colorful ones using more than 150 kinds of fillings.

“What I try to do is to make dumplings have a taste of 3,” says Chen. “I hope every customer — northerners or southerners, vegetarians (素食者) or non-vegetarians, Chinese people or foreigners — can 4 something familiar (熟悉的).”

Chinese dumplings are believed to be more than 2,000 years old. 5, they are made and eaten by people in North China at some 6 such as the Spring Festival.

For Chen, her idea came after she found that there were not many 7 for those who prefer lighter fillings. Most vegetarian dumplings have a filling of only two kinds of ingredients (原料), and not one restaurant in Beijing has more than 10 kinds of vegetarian fillings.

“I thought 8 could do better,” says Chen.

Baoyuan Dumpling House has 9 done it. Customers can not only find basic meat dumplings at this restaurant, they are also 10 quite a lot of other choices with different colors and exciting taste.

A

My dad and I both love music. He taught me how to play some pop songs on the piano and he is teaching me to play the drums and sing. He even creates custom tracks (自定义音轨) for me to help me perform my best!

— Samantha, age 11, California, USA

My dad encourages me to do my best in school so I can achieve my dream of being an animal doctor someday. He also encourages me to try new things and do sports. We often go camping, rock climb, hike, and ride bikes. I love that my dad likes to go on adventures (冒险) with me!

— Isabella, age 10, Nevada, USA

My dad is funny, and he has given me a good sense of humor (幽默感), too. He teaches me to make the best of a situation, even if it's difficult or scary. He also tells me that laughter is the best thing to make me feel better.

— Lila, age 12, California, USA

My dad has taught me never to give up, no matter how hard things get. He helps me realize that even if I don't get a perfect mark on a test or something, it is not the end of the world. He has taught me that I can learn from my mistakes and work harder the next time.

— Jane, age 11, British Columbia, Canada

根据材料内容选择最佳答案。

Dear Editor,

My sister Becky keeps singing a song to me, though she knows I don't like it. She even tells her friends to sing it to me! It really makes me angry.

Dale

Dear Dale,

Your sister seems to think it's fun to make you angry, and the way you react (反应) may add to her fun.

You could try to ask your sister nicely to stop. Anytime she sings it in the future, don't react or get angry. If you need to, leave the room. When you don't react, she may become bored and stop singing.

Your parents may have advice on how to deal with this, too.

Editor

Dear Editor,

When people ask what I want to be when I grow up, I feel pressured because I want to do so many things. Most of the time, I answer, "I don't know."

Cindy

Dear Cindy,

Those people might just be trying to get to know you better. What they are really asking is, "What interests you now?"

The next time someone asks what you want to be, you could say something like "Today I think I'd like to be a writer or an artist. But ask me tomorrow, and I may change my mind".

Editor

Dear Editor,

My best friend's parents ended their marriage (婚姻). She's having trouble going between houses and is sad all the time. It makes me feel sad, too.

Sally

It was a Sunday afternoon and Sophie was searching her toy boxes. She 11 soft toys everywhere.

“What’s going on?” asked Dad and Grandma.

“Day 100 is coming up at school, and I need to find 100 things,” Sophie counted her soft toys. “Only 25. I would need 75 more!”

Dad 12 coins in his pocket. “How about 100 coins?”

“Lots of kids take coins.”

“How about 100 cotton balls?” said Grandma, holding up a bag of them.

Sophie shook her head. “Christopher took cotton balls last year. It was a windy day, and half of them were blown out of the box on his way to school.”

“How about buttons (纽扣)?” said Grandma.

“I did that in kindergarten.”

“Erasers?” said Dad.

“First grade.”

“Well, in all of my 60 years,” said Grandma, “I have never thought so much about the number 100.”

“And in all of my 40 years,” said Dad, “I ...”

“Wait a minute!” Sophie thought for a moment. “I’ve got my 100 things!”

Day 100 finally arrived. Sophie kept looking at the classroom door as other kids shared their things.

Then someone knocked on the door. Sophie’s dad and grandma walked in. Sophie jumped out of her seat. “Here are my 100 things!” she shouted.

The class looked surprised.

“But that’s only two people,” said Kelly.

Sophie smiled and said, “This is my dad. He’s 40 years old.”
